Hi

I'm not sure who to speak to regarding the unlawful parking of an RV in the echo park/Angelino Heights area. So please forward this to the correct contact.

We live on Bellevue between Douglas and Laveta along the 101 freeway. For some reason on the map stating where RV's can and can't park there is a small yellow line across from our place stating they can park there by day but not over night and the rest of the street is red for no parking of RV's.

They have not moved in weeks and the trash they have unloaded, metal scraps and broken furniture is now all the way along the block. They certainly don't move over night or for street cleaning and attract other transient people who loiter now also. We have a toddler and I'm home with her a lot through the day so I just don't feel safe having them see me coming and going when we walk to the park each day or even sitting on the porch with her, now we have a terrible view of the RV itself, the scraps and trash along the whole block and other people hanging out with them in their run down vehicles. There is evidence of people sitting on our porch at night, going through boxes we have out there and leaving alcohol bottles behind. With the recent news of a rape last weekend down the end of our street it's even more scary to think about.

I'm not saying the people in the RV across from us are bad people but they definitely are not respectful of the neighborhood they have chosen or they would treat it like a trash heap. I do think they could be attracting less desirable people to the direct area.

WHEN will the city enforce any of the laws they have implemented??? Ticketing, towing, street trash clean up or at the very least a word from the local law enforcement to clean up and move on?

I realize the homeless issue is far bigger than this one small complaint but I just had to say something since I have to live with it everyday.

Hi ██████████,

This area falls within Council District 1 and is out of our jurisdiction. If you reach out to Ricardo Flores (ricardo.x.flores@lacity.org), he should be able to assist with possible next steps for addressing the issue.

Please let me know if you have any issues connecting with their office.

Thank you for reaching out.
